Dear Friends,

After every big snowfall in the Wood River Valley, people rush outside to carve tracks down a slope through the trees, or plop backwards and make a snow angel, or tromp fish-scale patterns in a field. There is a thrill to making the first tracks in a landscape that has been blanketed in white.

The College of Southern Idaho aims to be a place where first tracks are made – where people venture out on fresh terrain, into new fields of knowledge.

Here in Blaine County, the college works to:

1. help more people access higher education and complete their college goals. People who have some college education have a median lifetime income that is 23% higher than those who do not, and the unemployment rate in 2011 was twice as high for people 25 and older who do not have a college degree than for those who have a bachelor’s degree or higher. The State Board of Education recognizes that Idaho’s economy needs more college-educated people, and it has set a goal that 60% of Idahoans, age 25 to 34, will have a postsecondary degree or certificate by 2020. I believe this will benefit not only Idaho’s economy, but also our state’s civic and cultural vibrancy.

2. promote meaningful, diverse lifelong learning opportunities for all adults. Education does not stop with any diploma. It is a lifelong endeavor. We all can keep our minds nimble and our souls inspired by continually seeking opportunities to learn and grow – whether it be in computers, literature, art, cooking, languages, science, politics. . . .

There is always more to learn, and there is the potential to do so here in the Wood River Valley.

This spring semester, make tracks in fresh terrain as you push the boundaries of your brain!

ARTS AND CRAFTS

Needle-Felting: A Patchwork Scarf
It’s the perfect creative project for a wintry evening – Give an old wool sweater a new life and transform it into a cozy patchwork scarf. In this workshop, you will learn the process of needle-felting. The instructor, Cassi Griffin, will provide all the materials and hands-on guidance as you learn to sew by hand, embroider, and needle-felt to create a one-of-a-kind scarf. This is a great class for all skill levels. Cassi is the creator of “The Crafty Crow,” a popular blog on children’s crafts, and she has created projects for national publications, including Martha Stewart and Better Homes and Gardens. All supplies for this class are included in the fee.

Wednesday • January 23 • 6:00-8:00 p.m. • Room 815 • Tuition: $30

Portrait Drawing and Painting
Take a closer look at the people and the world around you, and learn techniques for capturing these images in drawings and paintings. This course will focus on figure and portrait drawing and painting using specialized techniques, as well as on materials and processes appropriate to production. You will explore a visual understanding of form, space, light, texture, and composition as it applies to figures and portraits. Mitsuru Brandon, M.F.A., will introduce the artistic study of the human figure and face features, including colors for flesh tones and shading. By the end of the class, you will create your own portraits of family members, friends, or pets.

ASTRONOMY

Introduction to the Night Sky
Go beyond the big dipper and learn to navigate the night sky in this introductory astronomy class. The class will spend half the time in the classroom and half the time outside as you learn to locate stars, planets, and constellations with the naked eye and a small telescope. The class will integrate resources such as star wheels and the iPad “Star Walk” app to guide your night adventures. Hart Webb, M.A., the instructor, did graduate work in both astronomy and environmental sciences. In addition to leading you around the night sky, she also will present information about interesting astronomical events and topics, such as meteor showers, eclipses, and black holes, and the whole class will participate in actual astronomy research through the citizen science program “Galaxy Zoo.”

BUSINESS AND NONPROFIT DEVELOPMENT

Grant-Writing

Grants are a vital funding source for all kinds of nonprofit, educational, and community organizations. This three-part workshop will introduce you to the world of charitable giving and grant funding. You will learn how to find funding sources and how to address specific grant components. You will practice writing sections of a proposal in class, and you will have the opportunity to create a formal proposal to apply for a $250 grant for a local nonprofit organization of your choice. You are encouraged to come to class with a grant idea in mind. The instructor, Tricia Swartling, M.P.H., has worked in the nonprofit sector and written and evaluated grants for over 20 years.

Successful Marketing

Learn how to develop a marketing mentality and create a marketing plan. This four-session, interactive workshop will focus on key issues that every marketing effort should address, including how to identify and understand your constituencies, segment your market, and tailor your marketing plan to address different audiences. The class will also address how to develop and implement marketing campaigns using traditional and social media, and then how to measure results. The class will look at case studies from both successful nonprofit and small business marketing campaigns. You are encouraged to bring ideas to class about the issues facing your own organization. The instructor, Jan Swanberg, M.B.A., is a marketing consultant with over 30 years of marketing experience. She has launched marketing campaigns for companies and nonprofits ranging from Apple to Viacom and more.

COOKING

The Braised and the Beautiful: Hearty Winter Cooking
Winter is the perfect time to experiment in the kitchen, preparing a meal worthy of après-ski entertaining. In this one-evening class, you will learn braising techniques as a meal of short ribs is prepared before your eyes. Chef Tim Filgate will demonstrate all phases of the braising process, and he also will show you how to prepare innovative side dishes that complement the meaty entrée. In addition to the preparation, Chef Tim also will discuss the presentation of the meal, giving tips on how to present it beautifully at the table. Your home entertaining may never be the same! Of course, the class culminates with sampling the delicious results. Chef Tim received his culinary training at Camosun College in Victoria, Canada, and since then has traveled the world as a private chef—often on yachts, where he has honed his abilities to work in tight galleys, rely on local foods, and continually create interesting dishes for clients.

HUMANITIES

Making Sense of the American Civil War: A Sesquicentennial Reading Series

One hundred and fifty years after the defining war in our nation’s history, Americans are still discovering its meanings. This reading series will provide a glimpse of the vast sweep and profound depth of Americans’ war among and against themselves. The program is organized as a series of five conversations, each of which will be led by a scholar from the field of history, political science, or literature. Each participant in the program will be issued a set of three texts: March by Geraldine Brooks, America’s War edited by Edward Ayers, and Crossroads of Freedom by James McPherson; these texts will provide the foundation for stimulating discussion on this seminal period in American history. See more details on page 8.

Section code: XMSC 160 B01
Thursdays • January 24, 31, February 7, 14, 21 • 6:00-7:30 p.m.
Tuition: No charge! But you must register in advance to receive the books and syllabus.

LANGUAGES

French: Beginning Conversational

For a taste of French beyond the croissant. . . . This class is designed for those with little or no knowledge of the French language. You will learn basic French to help you navigate if you travel, and you will learn about French culture, too. The class will focus on how to introduce yourself, ask basic questions, and express simple needs and wants. The class will introduce grammar topics as they pertain to specific communication goals. The instructor, Véronique Forgeat, M.A., is a native French speaker who taught for fourteen years at the Community School in Sun Valley.

Section code: XLNG 006 B01
Tuesdays • February 5, 12, 19, 26 • 6:00-7:30 p.m. • Room 513 • Tuition: $60

French: Intermediate Conversational

If you have studied French at some point in your past and would like to refresh and expand your skills, this class will help you do so. The class is designed for individuals who have the equivalent of one year of college French – who can introduce themselves, ask questions, and conjugate basic verbs in the present and past tenses. The class will focus on practical conversational skills, and it also will involve reading authentic French texts, listening to videos, and talking about cultural topics. The class will review important verb tenses (présent, imparfait, passé composé…) and address other grammar topics. The instructor, Véronique Forgeat, M.A., is a native French speaker who taught for fourteen years at the Community School in Sun Valley. This class is offered in partnership with the Community Library.

Section code: XLNG 006 B02
Thursdays • February 7, 14, 21, 28, March 7, 14 • 4:00-5:30 p.m. • Community Library, Ketchum
Tuition: $90
Spanish: Beginning Conversational II
This class will offer an opportunity to expand upon basic knowledge and grammatical concepts offered in Beginning Conversational Spanish I; however, it is not a requirement to have taken the first class for enrollment in the second. This eight-week class will review the alphabet, numbers, time, the calendar, and simple conversational vocabulary. It will advance into more in-depth study of present tense verb conjugation through conversational techniques, and it will develop vocabulary themes to assist you in your workplace or travel. This class is highly interactive and will not require a textbook. The instructor, Lori Burks, is a certified Spanish teacher who has lived and traveled extensively in Spanish-speaking countries.
Section code: XLNG 004 B01
Wednesdays • January 9-February 27 • 6:00-7:30 p.m. • Room 513 • Tuition: $120

Spanish: Advanced Conversational
Expand your Spanish language skills while you learn about the historical expansion of the Spanish language. This four-week class will cover the history of the Spanish language in Spain, Mexico, and various Latin American countries. You will learn about how Castellano evolved on the Iberian Peninsula, how it came to the Americas, and how it changed in various New World contexts. Classes will be conducted in Spanish and will include readings and video. The instructor of the class is Sara Pettit, M.A., who teaches academic Spanish classes at CSI and the Community School. The course is intended for students who have completed SPAN 202 or its equivalent.

MAKING SENSE OF THE AMERICAN CIVIL WAR
A Sesquicentennial Reading Program

In commemoration of the sesquicentennial of the American Civil War (1861-1865), the Idaho Humanities Council, in partnership with the College of Southern Idaho Blaine County Campus, presents a five-meeting, scholar-led reading and discussion program on “Making Sense of the American Civil War.” The program, developed by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the American Library Association, is organized as a series of conversations based on the readings of three books which will be checked out to each participant at no charge for the duration of the program:

March, by Geraldine Brooks, is a Pulitzer Prize-winning historical novel which tells its story through the voices of characters from another novel, Little Women, by Louisa May Alcott.

America’s War, edited by historian Edward L. Ayers, is a collection of writing by people who had to decide for themselves before and during the war where justice, honor, duty, and loyalty lay, including selections by Frederick Douglass, Abraham Lincoln, Mark Twain, Henry David Thoreau, and many others.

Crossroads of Freedom: Antietam – The Battle that Changed the Course of the Civil War, by James McPherson, explores the landmark battle in the fall of 1862.
